Legendary Actor Christopher Lee Releases his Third Heavy Metal Christmas Single

Thursday 11 December, 2014

Sir Christopher Lee, who has starred in almost 300 movies including 'The Lord of the Rings', 'Star Wars', 'The Man with the Golden Gun', 'Dracula', 'The Wicker Man' and most recently 'The Hobbit: The Battle of the Five Armies', has released a new Heavy Metal single titled 'Darkest Carols, Faithful Sing'.

The single is a playful take on the Christmas classic 'Hark! The Herald Angels Sing' and includes three different mixes of the song.

"It's light-hearted, joyful and fun. It's a band singing on how Metal should be played, the effect it has on the band and its listeners,"Sir Christopher explained.

He joins forces once again with guitar prodigy Hedras Ramos, who had previously worked with Lee in the album 'Charlemagne: The Omens of Death' (2013), replacing Richie Faulkner (Judas Priest) and 'A Heavy Metal Christmas' (2012), which was Sir Christopher's first venture into Christmas Metal.

Christopher Lee became the oldest Heavy Metal artist at the age of 91. Last Christmas, the song 'Jingle Hell' reached No 18 in the Billboard Charts, making him the oldest performer in history to have charted. The record was previously held by Tony Bennett.

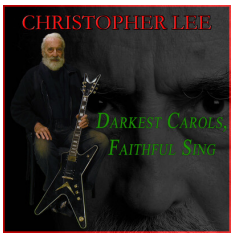

"At my age, the most important thing for me is to keep active by doing things that I truly enjoy. I do not know how long I am going to be around, so every day is a celebration and I want to share it with my fans," Lee said.

'Darkest Carols, Faithful Sing' is available now on iTunes, Amazon and Google Music.:

Christopher Lee's previous releases include:

- 'Charlemagne: By the Sword and the Cross' (2010)
- 'Let Legend Mark me as the King' (2012)
- 'A Heavy Metal Christmas' (2012)
- 'Charlemagne: The Omens of Death' (2013)
- 'A Heavy Metal Christmas Too' (2013)
