Delusional is definitely a word LGB Direct would not use to describe millennial entrepreneurs. In a report presented in the Telegraph, the findings highlighted were reported from the latest Albion Growth Report, an annual poll of Britain's small businesses, which is now in its third year. The results found that entrepreneurs aged 35 and under - the "Millennials", were projecting dramatic expansion compared to more senior in age entrepreneurs who projected similar growth, a difference of 6 percent. It is also believed that millennials were keen to source external financing and a concern concluding from the report was their lack of desire to source a mentor and understand their value.

Counter arguing LGB Direct disagree and believe that economic growth has been supported and encouraged by many entrepreneurial millennials whom are taking inspiration from many showbiz and celebrity entrepreneurs. The millennials are also exploiting their up to date knowledge in tech and are bringing fresh and innovative ideas to the market.

LGB Direct are specialists in outsourcing campaigns for large household brands and often utilise millennial entrepreneurs when sourcing new contractors to assist in their promotional campaigns.
