

MaleSkin.co.uk Announce More Skin Care for Men Brands on Board

Monday 4 March, 2013

Already boasting some of the male skin care industry's top names, such as BRTC, MMUK MAN and Recipe For Men, MaleSkin.co.uk appear to have a firm grip of what's hot and what's not when it comes to men's grooming standards. However, it appears as though there is no respite for this forward thinking and impressively serving organization.

MaleSkin, who already dish up a huge serving of male skin care products for it's growingly hungry man-ship, including their macho moisturisers, slick serums and grooming greats, look set to bolster their attack with some of the biggest players in the market.

Quiet whisperings are beginning to spread throughout the skin care industry, with the likes of Clinique For Men, Lab Series and Nivea said to be keeping close tabs on the developments at MaleSkin. But for now, we can only deal in facts.

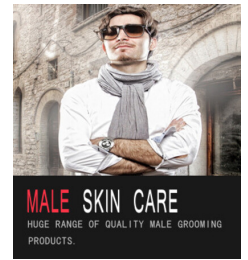

It was announced on Wednesday by CEO Alexander Dalley that from late spring, a large number of brands will be joining the party as the buzz for men's skin care grows ever deafening. Included in the new ranges are American Based high quality grooming manufacturer eShave, British based BlueBeards and uniquely marketed Billy Jealousy.

If that wasn't enough, Henri Lloyd's skin care for men range, which showcases mineral infusion for the skin's supreme protection and Taylor Of Old Bond Street have also been confirmed as new partners.

With that said, and the growth in ranges seemingly by the week, there still remains a very visible and defining goal for MaleSkin, dubbed the 'noisy neighbours' by one long running male grooming competitor. The vision depicts the UK's widest range of skin care for men, available at one online store, within eighteen months. A place whereby any man, regardless of his skin needs, budget and experience can go, to fully comply with regulations warranting him to be a groomed up masterpiece. A place where the attention to detail, desire and dedication of the team makes the entire formulation of an expert skin care regime seemingly effortless for every man.

So gentlemen, bloggers and guru's, discover the truth behind male perfection as the market booms by the month. Who will be the last man standing as the race for the title of best skin care for men brand draws ever intense.
