Here the growing firm share some top tips that were highlighted by Thai Nguyen earlier this year on www.wallstreetinsanity.com.

1. A Healthy Perfectionism – Striving for perfection can be detrimental at times but healthy perfectionism is found by setting the bar for achieving a high standard and refusing to settle for less.
2. Rituals – Strategic Five Marketing believe it is essential to create a way to start the day positively, whether personally it involves, exercise, meditation or just asking yourself a question to create the mindset that will prep the day for success. Humans are creatures of habit and ritual; it's essential to form them from the minute you wake up.
3. Re-framing Negatives - Those who've achieved greatness don't carry perfect scorecards; their victories are matched by their defeats. In fact, it's in their losses and failures that they find strength. Strategic Five Marketing touch on inspiration from Thomas Edison, who 'failed' his way toward the light bulb, is the perfect example of re-framing negatives. He was famously quoted saying, "I have not failed. I've just found 10,000 ways that won't work."
4. Saying "No" - Productivity is often synonymous with success, but there's a difference between busy and effective. Becoming great means delegating and directing your time only toward what's most profitable. Entrepreneurs should have a good idea of what the destination looks like and believe it is essential to success not to become too tempted by derailing opportunities along the way.
5. Being A Bookworm – Ben Lambert agrees that the most successful people constantly invest in themselves, finding ways to develop, enhance or fine tune skills. As Abraham Lincoln said, "Give me six hours to chop down a tree and I will spend the first four sharpening the axe." Greatness comes from constantly sharpening your mind through reading.
6. Finding Your Unique "Zone" – Entrepreneurs need to embrace their uniqueness, it's easy to get carried away with a solution for greatness, but everyone is different. Going from good to great means finding the unique way of tapping into achieving flow.
7. Gratitude - Focusing on all the goodness you've experienced in life will be the fuel that propels you to greatness. Strategic Five Marketing believe entrepreneurs should think of five things to be grateful for each day. Gratefulness will lead you to greatness.

Strategic Five Marketing's MD Ben Lambert is quoted saying "Entrepreneurship is a journey and finding habits that will contribute to your success should be one of the first check points on the journey, it will be these habits that work as a compass to help you find your destination".
