

Metro Bank Wins At Asian Voice Awards

Tuesday 4 March, 2014

Metro Bank, the newest high street bank in more than 100 years, has been named Financial Provider of the Year at the Asian Voice Political & Public Life Awards in London.

The revolutionary high street bank, which prides itself on offering customers the very best in service and convenience, was presented the top prize by Baroness Betty Boothroyd at a ceremony in the House of Commons.

Craig Donaldson, Chief Executive at Metro Bank said, "It's an absolute honour to be recognised as the financial provider of the year at the Asian Voice Political & Public Life awards. As a community bank we pride ourselves on the strong relationships we have with our customers and local communities, and the Asian community is certainly no exception. Our new Asian Banking Group for businesses and entrepreneurs recognises our commitment to the Asian Community and we look forward to continue deepening these relationships in the future."

At Metro Bank, local bankers serve local customers. The bank offers a bespoke business banking service including a full range of lending and cash management solutions for businesses of all sizes. It launched in July 2010 with a focus on providing unparalleled levels of service and convenience to customers. Metro Bank now has more than 280,000 business and personal customer accounts, and will shortly open its 26th store in Epsom, Surrey.
