MIT is hosting its second annual Bitcoin Expo on March 7th and 8th!

Monday 2 March, 2015

This premiere student-run event, hosted by the MIT Bitcoin Club and Wellesley Bitcoin Club, features two days of panels and presentations from leading professionals and academics in the cryptocurrency space. You'll hear from engineers who maintain and develop the core Bitcoin protocol, academics on the cutting edge of cryptocurrency research, and founders and executives of some of the hottest million-dollar startups in bitcoin.

Join hundreds of students and professionals as we learn about the most recent and upcoming legal and technical developments in Bitcoin. Delve into the heart of recent developments with experts like Gavin Andresen, Jeremy Allaire, Adam Ludwin, Charlie Lee, Constance Choi, Peter Todd, Jerry Brito, Joi Ito, Andreas Antonopoulous and many, many more.

Day One will provide insight into the Bitcoin mainstreaming process. We'll have presentations and panels covering everything from Bitcoin trading to infrastructure, including the issues of security and regulation

Day Two will detail the inner workings of bitcoin and the new technologies that will emerge as the industry develops. Learn about the latest, greatest, and upcoming bitcoin innovations: sidechains, proof of payment, zero knowledge proofs, and many more.

Join us as we strive to understand the present and build the future.
