Moyses Stevens Flowers launches a 7 day UK flower delivery service

Friday 3 September, 2021

The renowned and luxury florist Moyses Stevens has just introduced 7 days a week flower delivery service for London and the rest of the UK to keep up with the demand for their exquisite flowers.

Operating since 1876, Moyses Stevens have developed a loyal clientele and are the go-to florist for corporations, events and weddings. They have dedicated themselves to floral excellency since their birth and are sought after nationwide by flower lovers alike. Customers come from all over to visit one of their 5 stores situated in the most beautiful parts of London such as Battersea, Belgravia and also with a concession stand at Selfridges. Having such a large client base has meant that a fast and efficient delivery service is necessary to ensure that their customers can have fresh flowers every day of the week.

Moyses Stevens deliver same day in London and offer next day delivery to the rest of the UK and Ireland. International orders are also accepted and can be delivered the next day if you beat the cut off time of 6pm the day before.

They also offer a flower subscription service that you can cater to your own taste and style, deciding exactly how often you want to have a florally fragrant home by trying a weekly or monthly subscription, even less frequent than that if you so desired. The whole service is catered to your individual and personal needs. You can choose from English Garden which features elegant designs that are intertwined with luscious seasonal greenery, soft tones, and subtle textures which are suited to a wide range of interior spaces and quickly became the most popular subscription choice, or if your style is a bit cooler and classier then the Scandinavian designs are the way forward in creating a chic environment with a focus on foliage and dashes of floral colour. They also offer 3 other types that include Modern Home, English Foliage and Seasonal so that you have a variety to choose from, meaning that you really are spoilt for choice. With pricing ranging from £40 to £120, you really can't go wrong with this glorious subscription package.

In 2019 the prestigious florist opened their Battersea Flower School within their retail store which is run by their expert Head Tutor and School Coordinator, Andrea and his team of passionate and skilled masters of floristry. Here you will be offered a variety of different courses to choose from whether you are just a flower enthusiast or wanting to pursue a career in floristry, you get to decide whether you want to create one of their infamous hand-tied bouquets, learn to arrange some exquisite seasonal flowers in a vase or even create your very own bridal bouquet, all being done using sustainable mechanics and no floral foam. At the moment they are currently offering you the opportunity to take part in their Dried Flowers Bouquet Workshop, the Vase Arrangement Masterclass, the Hand-tied Bouquet Workshop, the Bridal Bouquet and Boutonniere Masterclass, the Autumn Seasonal Wreath, the Floral Centrepiece Workshop or you can take part in their Open Studio Day, they also have many more classes coming to the school soon.

Moyses Stevens also specializes in wedding flowers and have all the experience and expertise to ensure that your wedding is simply spectacular. Using their creative flair and excellent attention to detail, the talented team of florists aim to meet your exact specifications when creating your floral designs. Offering multiple different services and the opportunity to take part in classes to see how your bouquet is made, you will be fully involved in all aspects of the preparation of your wedding flowers. You'll be given numerous consultations with the wedding flower specialists where you'll be able to discuss prices, seasonal flower availability and what your specific wants and needs are. A mood board will be created during the preparation process with your vision for your wedding in mind and a mock-up bouquet will be made before your big day so you can make any final decisions. They will also pack, deliver, install and remove all flowers on the day of the ceremony.
