

National Trails Day: Hiking in the USA with World Expeditions

Monday 1 June, 2015

From snow-capped peaks and jagged cliffs to verdant forests and snoozing volcanoes, North America offers endless opportunities for hikers of all levels.

To mark the upcoming American National Trails Day this Saturday, 6 June, adventure travel specialist World Expeditions chooses below the most stunning hiking trips across the USA – for those who want to grab their boots and experience the national parks and the wild landscapes rather than the sandy beaches or the hectic metropolises...

Grand Canyon and Rocky Mountain Trails

This trip brings to life western USA's most famous parks, home to some of the most dramatic landscapes in the world. Absorb the energy of the geysers and boiling mud pots in Yellowstone (the world's oldest National Park), admire hanging lakes in Aspen, hike in the dramatic Rocky Mountains, camp in the Grand Canyon amongst turquoise pools and waterfalls and explore the UNESCO protected Mesa Verde. Stunning drives link the parks, such as the Million Dollar Highway in Colorado, one of America's most scenic routes.
