Stay focused

NBE Marketing says the best entrepreneurs know how to stay focused. They stick to their vision and break down their goals daily, weekly, monthly and long-term. They know why they do what they do, where they want to be and have a plan on how to accomplish their goals.

Value customer feedback

Consumers decide about the success of a business. NBE Marketing finds it absolutely crucial to listen to customer feedback. "We want to know what people think and what they need," explains Richard Clarke of NBE Marketing. "This feedback helps our clients to act immediately to enhance the customer experience, keep inventing and outrun their competitors," adds Richard Clarke.

Build long-lasting relationships

By meeting consumers on a face-to-face basis, NBE Marketing acquires new customers for their clients and builds long lasting relationships. "Our sales force takes the time to listen to people, to have a laugh with them and recommends products and services according to the consumers' needs," explains Richard Clarke of NBE Marketing.

Build a network

NBE Marketing insists that it is vital in business to be surrounded by like-minded people and build a network to exchange valuable information, build a reputation and support each other.

Be a mentor

The success of small businesses is crucial for economic growth. NBE Marketing supports the next generation through mentoring and providing support and guidance on topics such as business administration, campaign management, finance, time management, leadership, networking, sales and marketing.

"The future is in our hands. It is the outcome of the decisions we make today. Everyone is responsible of their own future and can take control of it immediately," says NBE Marketing's MD Richard Clarke. The firm's future looks promising, as their clients have requested to be represented in at least two further locations by June 2016. Richard Clarke is also planning to expand overseas next year. With an optimistic smile he says: "I am looking forward to what happens next."
