New Interactive Online Veterinary CPD Courses

Thursday 23 July, 2020

CPD Solutions has added to its suite of online CPD formats with a series of new interactive, tutor-supported courses.

Those preferring online options generally, or specifically due to restrictions in the pandemic, now have more choice of formats to fit with their learning objectives and preferred learning style.

Advance25™ Courses provide 25 Hours of fully flexible CPD in key areas of small animal practice. The launch range includes Small Animal Medicine Cases Challenges, Emergency Medicine, Abdominal Ultrasound and Thoracic and Abdominal Radiology. Advance25™ courses run for a 6 week period, with full tutor support throughout. Recorded and live sessions are combined with discussion of multiple cases that vets are likely to encounter in their practices. Vets have access to their course materials for a full 12 months, and they can revisit whenever they have a relevant patient.

Susie Coughlan, veterinary surgeon and Managing Director at CPD Solutions, pioneered online learning for vets with the Keysteps Online website in 2004. ‘Since 2004 we’ve been looking at new formats to help vets and vet nurses learn effectively online. Fortunately today far fewer people have issues with effective internet! Our Online Mini Series Courses have been really popular with veterinary professionals, and our Webinar Clubs provide subject-specific membership content. We appreciate that there is a high demand for quality online options at the moment, with many vets limited to online CPD. With the new Advance25 courses we’ve added more tutor support and on-going interaction for those who are looking for a more immersive experience providing extended CPD hours. We’re really excited about these courses, which are launching now and running in the autumn. They should help vets make a real difference in their practices; they’re fully flexible and will fit with many people’s family and work commitments.’

Vets can enter a prize draw to win a free Advance25 course for a limited time period at https://www.cpd-solutions.com/advance25

CPD Solutions is a leading provider of Continuing Professional Development for the Veterinary Profession. Established in 1998 by veterinary surgeons Drs Susie and Andrew Coughlan, today the company enjoys a strong reputation for both high quality practical training and extensive, flexible Online CPD formats. This is reflected in the new Advance25 Programme, which concentrates on helping vets to develop key clinical skills that they can use directly in their practices.
