London, UK - SocialBox.Biz, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting sustainable re-use, is now calling on additional companies and other large organizations to contact SocialBox.Biz first before scrapping their old, no longer needed but still usable MacBooks, laptops and other tech.

Items will be securely wiped and upgraded with open source software by SocialBox.Biz before some of the most suitable ones being delivered to Age UKs in London. This initiative aims to support both the environment and the elderly community.

Companies can now also solve their impact problems and reduce scope 3 emissions from old tech by sponsoring additional students, basic computer classes and tech labs. Please contact us to discuss further: <https://www.socialbox.biz/corporate-impact/>

With over 10 years of impact SocialBox.Biz initiative is part of a sustainability strategy reducing scope 3 increasing social impact and many companies are supporting this community interest company. Now is the time to include SocialBoxBiz in your board agenda and your annual report.

"You create social impact by re-using large quantities of your company's old but still functional tech equipment on an ongoing basis with SocialBox.Biz and support their self-sustaining social enterprise by paying for our services" Added the team at Socialbox.Biz

With the rise of technology and constant upgrades, many companies and organizations often find themselves with a surplus of old laptops and MacBooks. Instead of disposing of them, SocialBox.Biz is urging these companies to call them to check what can still be reused before.

With the re-use of services from SocialBox.Biz companies reduce their carbon footprint and make a positive impact on the lives of those who can not afford any hardware or software.

Even companies and other large organisations such as universities without items to contribute at this time are encouraged to join this initiative and make a difference in the lives of the elderly living on small pensions and other disadvantaged people.
