London, October 3, 2022
- NTT Ltd., a leading global IT infrastructure and services company, has announced Eric Clark as the CEO of its Americas division, effective October 1, 2022. Reporting to Abhijit Dubey, Global Chief Executive Officer, NTT Ltd., Clark will leverage his deep understanding of the market to drive growth in the Americas and support the launch of new and innovative combined offerings through closer collaboration between NTT Ltd. and NTT DATA in the Americas.

“Eric is a seasoned leader with vast experience in technology services and software. His deep industry knowledge and track record of driving growth and innovation into the marketplace will bring immediate value to our business and customers,” said Abhijit Dubey, Chief Executive Officer, NTT Ltd. “Eric’s extensive global experience will be invaluable. Having lived and run businesses out of Singapore, London, and the US, he is well-positioned to lead our NTT Americas business and our customers in this fast-moving industry.”

Clark brings more than 25 years of IT experience and joins NTT Ltd. from NTT DATA Services, where he served as Chief Digital & Strategy Officer, responsible for building and driving corporate strategy, including acquisition strategy, go-to-market strategy and R&D. Clark was accountable for bringing successful, profitable, value-oriented digital offerings and industry platforms to market, to facilitate client journeys through IT modernization and digital transformation.

“NTT Ltd. has an impressive track record of delivering advanced products and technology services to help our customers solve their toughest problems,” said Clark. “I look forward to working with Abhijit, our customers, partners and such a talented group of professionals to lead this next chapter for NTT in the Americas. Together, we have great opportunities ahead to deliver innovations to help our customers advance the transformation of their businesses and leverage technology for good.”
