Omni Cure unveils unique new product formulation, Omni One, deemed as a life extending anti oxidant nutritional supplement that combines two age-old natural ingredients for the very first time.

The product is a new innovation in the healthcare market from Omni Cure, which is led by its founder and CEO, Gisli Örn Larusson. Omni One is available to anyone looking to improve their overall health and wellbeing, but also those who may currently be battling illness.

Omni Cure's founder Gisli Örn Larusson developed Omni One after being diagnosed with prostate cancer after agreeing with his doctor to refrain from all conventional medicine in order to explore alternative remedies. Four months after using the unique combination of ingredients, Gisli's tumor had gone. A research of the ingredients was carried out by an international company of scientist, in London who laid the foundation of OMNI Cure,

One user of Omni One, Steve Charles from Kent, who was suffering from prostate disorder for over a year says 'I was grateful to discover Omni One, which I started taking 2 months ago... I saw my Dr again after having had again an MRI scan and biopsy. He confirmed to me that in view of the test results and the relief of my symptoms, I only needed to come for regular check ups every 6 months.'

Omni One is a unique combination of Frankincense Oil and Curcumin in one capsule. The benefits of the products ingredients are exponential and there seems to be no other similar product available on the market today, both in its formulaic composition and its delivery mechanism as a single capsule.

Omni One has been tested according to the highest international standards and is certified as an Ayurvedic medicine.
