Monday 17 September, 2012

Growing Bingo Portal has Expanded to Provide Visitors the Option to Play Free Games such as Bingo, Slots, and Keno Online.

London, England , September 17th, 2012- OnlineFreeBingo.co.uk has recently undergone another expansion that they hope will bring even more value to their visitors. In keeping with their mission to guide their readers to the best online bingo offers, with an emphasis on free bingo, they have recently added a new page to their website that is dedicated solely to free games that can be played within the site itself.

Making the decision to add playable free games to their website did not require much debate. Regarding the new addition, Jim Lang, the Site Director for OnlineFreeBingo.co.uk, stated, "Given the fact that the core mission of our website is to inform bingo players of where they can play free bingo and find the best promotional offers, it was a logical step for us to decide to implement a free games section on our site where our visitors could gain access to free gaming entertainment."

To date, the online bingo portal has provided not only an option for free bingo within their site, but also keno and slots. "We know that many bingo players often enjoy playing other games besides bingo, particularly slots, so we felt that the more games we could provide to people, the greater value they could gain with each visit to OnlineFreeBingo.co.uk." They are in the process of adding more playable free games, so their game library will continue to grow over time.

Players visiting the Free Online Games page at OnlineFreeBingo.co.uk will find their bingo and keno offerings sorted together, while slots games have their own section. Players can scan the thumbnail images of the specific games on offer and then click the image to be taken to a page dedicated specifically to that game. Along with the game itself, they provide information about the game, as well as instructions on how to play. Some of the games currently included are Pop Bingo, King Keno, and slot games like Cleopatra II and Pixies of the Forest.

Their new Free Online Games page is just another example of OnlineFreeBingo.co.uk's dedication to bringing the most value to their visitors. With the promise of free games available on-site, gaming enthusiasts have one more reason to regularly visit them.
