Orca giving away 1000 Marks & Spencer stocks for insta looks

Friday 17 September, 2021

Orca App is giving away 1000 Marks & Spencer stocks to users for posting their looks on Instagram.

Orca, a recently released investment app for the UK, is organising a giveaway on Instagram with a prize pool of 1000 Marks & Spencer stocks. Users are encouraged to step into the role of the dream investor and post their awesome look on Instagram to get a free MKS stock. With this program, Orca is emphasising the idea that you can invest not just with money, but also with actions.

What a user has to do to enter the giveaway

To receive up to 21 of the 1000 MKS shares, a user should follow Orca on Instagram, make a post showing them in their best go-to investment outfit, and tag the Orca account in the post with the hashtag #stocks4looks. Within three days, Orca will contact users via DM, which is why the post should be kept up for at least three days.

Conditions and details of the giveaway

Anyone can take part in the giveaway. To do this, a user needs to download the app, open a GIA, subscribe to Orca's official account on Instagram (@orca.app), post a look and wait for the DM. After a week, users will be able to log into their Orca account to claim their free MKS stock.

A similar mechanic with free stocks is active with the Orca referral programme, where users also receive free stocks for sharing their referral code with other people.
