Over £75,000 Already Raised For Charity as Competition to Win £1.25m Home For Just £2 is Extended

Monday 14 September, 2020

Peter Pearce, the owner of Painter's Keep, has announced that a minimum donation of £75,000 has been guaranteed to charity after the chance to win a £1.25 million home was extended, as he looks to raise the full target of £150,000. Nestled close to Goring-by-Sea, the home fit for the stars on millionaires' row, is located within the stunning seaside location of East Preston on the exclusive private estate of Kingston Gorse.

Earlier in the year, Peter decided to sell his home as part of a prize draw to support two local hospices, Chestnut Tree House (a charity providing hospice care for children and young people based in Sussex) and St Barnabas House (a charity providing palliative care to adults in the Worthing area). The tickets went on sale on the 20th of July, hoping to raise at least £150,000 for these charities. That would be enough to run Chestnut Tree House in its entirety for over 3 weeks!

Tickets are available for just £2 with no limit on the number of tickets purchased. The general public also has the opportunity to increase their chance of winning through earning additional 'free tickets' and be in with a change of a £10,000 prize, simply by sharing the unique link their purchase confirmation email.

Peter says: "I decided to launch the once-in-a-lifetime prize draw after seeing a crisis appeal from the hospices earlier this year. As we have all experienced, in one form or another, the Covid-19 pandemic has had a hugely detrimental impact, not least to the fund-raising on which charities rely heavily and this was my way of helping to plug that shortfall.

He goes on to say: "I've been overwhelmed with the response to the prize draw since July and I'm grateful to the general public for buying tickets and referring friends and family members! However, whilst we've had great success so far, we haven't yet sold enough tickets to award the house and I've therefore decided to extend the deadline until midnight on the 1st of November. I know that people want the house to be awarded and that's always been my aim too, so I feel it's only right to give people that opportunity. I won't extend the closing date again so please buy tickets so that we can raise £150,000 for charity and make someone the new owner of Painter's Keep. Good luck to everyone!

The Painter's Keep draw was due to take place on Thursday the 10th of September, over a live stream on Facebook and Instagram. Peter planned to announce the winner of the property or the cash prize and the £10,000 referral prize, however, the general public now has an extra eight weeks to enter before the extended closing date.
