

Overnight delivery of websites, corporate blogs, & e-commerce stores!

Monday 29 October, 2012

Get Website Overnight recently launched their service for businesses that are in hurry to build up their website and e-business. And how they do that? They help select a suitable looking template closest to the requirements and help setup the same within the shortest span possible.

That's like express courier service of website making and online marketing, and that includes Personal Websites, Business & Corporate Websites, Corporate Blogs, E-Commerce Websites.

The company also deliver tailor made application development of customized websites, e-commerce engines in both Open Source and Microsoft Platforms and also mobile applications on Android and iOS.

The service is targeted towards novice businessmen & executives, who either do not have a website / e-commerce or businesses which are not happy with their current website / e-commerce website looks.

A company executive says "Today it is much more simpler to make a presence online, and setup e-commerce store online, but most of the people do not realise this and they do not know where to go look out for help."

Most of the websites delivered by getwebsiteovernight.com comes with popular Content Management System (CMS) such as wordpress, magento, joomla, drupal etc., which helps manage the content for the entire website, i.e., you can make changes to the text published on the website, add more pages to it, and keep adding more content as and when it is required. The e-commerce engine comes up with it's own inventory management CMS.

And the service is quite affordable starting with $199 simple website setups, and you do not have to pay till you choose your template.

Not only initial setup, GetWebsiteOvernight.com also helps maintain the websites once they are up and running at nominal extra cost and they help setup domain name, emails, and whatever assistance you may need for your future online presence.

Interesting? Try them right away and have a stunning looking presence online and e-commerce as of tomorrow.
