Oxfordshire Quartz and Granite supplier, The Granite House move to new premises.

Monday 11 February, 2013

The Granite House have moved!

The Granite House is pleased to announced a move to new premises. The new premises, will allow for a more comfortable showroom environment and more efficient production of granite worktops, quartz surfaces, and stone flooring.

The owner of The Granite House, Tim Rotherham is pleased with the new premises and recently stated: “It is something that we have been planning for many months. Not only does this offer a more customer friendly, showroom environment but our workshop is bigger, enabling faster and more efficient production and we have more external space which means we will be able to hold a much larger selection of stone, offering our visitors the opportunity to enjoy the beauty of granite in its entirety.”

The Granite House specialises in granite kitchen worktops but also offers a wide variety of quartz surfaces from leading quartz manufacturers as well as granite off cuts, marble and quartz off cuts. There are hundreds of different designs and colours of granite available, some of which can be browsed through on the company website.

The other main reason behind the move is that the new location will improve customer service. With better lighting and more interior space, customers looking to choose from the different stones available will be able to get better service when it comes to both answering questions and helping with selection.

The Granite House has high hopes that the new area which is situated at 42 Murdock Road in Bicester, Oxfordshire will be more convenient to customers and improve the already high quality of service offered.
