

payasUgym.com Gives a Warm Welcome to YMCA Wimbledon

Friday 15 March, 2013

Fitness enthusiasts in the community of Wimbledon will be delighted to learn that the YMCA is now offering customers flexible passes, enabling them to use the gym facilities without committing to membership. Thanks to its new partnership with payasUgym.com, customers can use the YMCA gym on a pay-as-you-go basis, following the same principles of using pay-as-you-go mobile phones.

All the equipment needed for a complete workout is contained in the air-conditioned gym, including cardio-boosting cross trainers and treadmills, plus a good range of resistance machines and free weights.

Located close to the centre of Wimbledon town centre, the YMCA is at the heart of a lively community. There is already a diverse choice of gyms here ranging from ladies only gyms to boxing gyms, and there is growing demand for more flexible membership options. Several gyms in the borough have already signed up with the gym access programme payasUgym.com, giving their customers freedom to use them at their own convenience.

CEO Jamie Ward stated: "We are very pleased that YMCA Wimbledon will be offering our exclusive gym passes to its customers. Our service benefits both the gym user and the gym operator so everybody wins!"

Launched in 2009, the payasUgym.com mission was to create flexible, affordable gym access to meet people's differing needs. The company recognized that gyms are no longer just for average men and ladies only. In London, for example, there are business people who want to use a gym in the city for just one night, people who want to try out an MMA gym, and women who want to try gyms just for ladies. Only gyms in London were initially targeted by payasUgym.com, and the service expanded rapidly to hundreds of gyms across the UK. Today the range of gyms is impressive, from boxing gyms in Nottingham to ladies only gyms in London, and the best thing is that customers can try out any new gym without being a member.

The easy-to-use payasUgym.com website offers a range of gym passes covering periods from 1 day to 3 months. The passes are sent to smartphones which are then presented at the gym. It's all incredibly quick and intuitive with a wide choice of gyms to tempt even the choosiest fitness fan.
