Thursday 3 September, 2015

Sales and event marketing firm Pinnacle Promotions believes that within their industry strong leadership is essential. The firm conducted market research in new territory this week and outline why leadership qualities have been a strong focus.

The firm have expanded their popular campaigns to a new territory in Luton which will provide more market reach for their clients. Pinnacle Promotions have pointed out that this requires the firm to have extremely strong leaders. A new territory means a new market so the sales reps need to be able to adapt in order to gain results – a strong leader can educate others who are new to the campaign and pass on their expertise. Pinnacle Promotions tries to work only with those who are passionate and committed to the development of others and not just having the title of 'management'.

Pinnacle Promotions has revealed the skills that they believe make a strong leader and what it is that they look for in leaders:

Communication

Great leaders are expert communicators. Good leaders listen as opposed to just bossing people around and when they do speak they are not only clear but they are sincere and consistent.

Integrity

The best leaders are impeccable with their word. Integrity is a conscious choice. Their actions match their words and are congruent with their values. This inspires confidence in their followers.

Values

Good leaders stick to their core values. They share these values with others and do whatever it takes to stay true to them. Their values set the tone and provide a behavioural guide for them and others to follow.

Vision

Great leaders know where they're headed and why. They always have one eye on the future and one on current situations. Their role is to achieve their vision.

Passion

Passion motivates great leaders. It's a never-ending source of energy that separates the doers from the dreamers. It is what initially attracts followers and inspires them.

Confidence

Great leaders stick things out when they get tough because they have the confidence to succeed. Great leaders are confident without being arrogant.

Curiosity

Great leaders ask lots of questions. They are curious about everything and constantly seek to learn and hone their own skills. They admit what they don't know and then go out of their way to learn it. Good leaders are ego-less when it comes to learning.

Positive Attitude

Great leaders are eternal optimists and always see the future as a reality. They will always strive to solve a problem or overcome a challenge. Attitude is a choice and great leaders choose to exude the type of attitude that will positively affect their team.
