

Privilege Promotions Promote Outsourcing as Cost Effective Marketing Solutions

Monday 7 July, 2014

Event marketing firm, Privilege Promotions have promoted the benefits of outsourced marketing as a cost effective marketing solution.

The firm have recently revealed reasons as to why they believe outsourcing provides many benefits to brands that decide to use outsourced sales and marketing specialists.

1. Providing the right people – Effective marketing campaigns require a number of experts. A typical group can include: strategists, analysts, auditors, technologists, product specialists, communications professionals, creative, brand managers, event organisers and advertising specialists. Many marketing organisations do not have the skills or even enough of these people to run a campaign effectively and specialised help is often required and can be provided by outsourcing firms.

2. Providing specific technologies – Getting access to an integrated technology-rich set of marketing applications can be expensive. A more cost-effective solution is to outsource specific marketing functions to specialists who use leading technologies.

3. Managing costs effectively – Fixed costs often account for the largest portion of any marketing budget. Marketing organisations have to adapt quickly to sudden changes in customer demographics and markets, as well as to take advantage of immediate opportunities. As such, outsourcing those projects can create a greater overall level of flexibility.

4. Experience – Outsourcing requires placing trust into an unfamiliar company that are more experienced. The experience gained supporting companies is key to providing the best practices.

5. Insight – Attracting people that are activity-orientated, managing processes, activities and events. They ensure that everything comes together in the right way and at the right time to ensure the best results.

6. Growth – During a high growth period it is faster and also often cheaper to hire outsourcing firms.

Organisations of all sizes are seeking end-to-end strategic seamless and sustainable marketing services, something that outsourced sales firms can provide. Outsourcing firms can respond quickly and effectively to a rapid or unexpected change in the business or perhaps an increased volume of marketing campaigns. The direct marketing techniques that outsourced sales firms such as Privilege Promotions use have proven to be cost effective and drive great results. They develop a personalised marketing approach that will be the most effective way to deliver the product/message to the target audience. By engaging with customers directly it encourages brand loyalty and improves customer retention.

“Agencies are expensive, but managing a bunch of a la carte freelancers may not be a viable option. Businesses know marketing is important but many simply don’t have the time to invest. For that reason outsourcing is a perfect solution” says Privilege Promotions’ Managing Director, Will Ross.
