

Privilege Promotions reveal bigger mission

Monday 21 November, 2016

Sales and marketing specialists, Privilege Promotions has outlined their bigger mission to provide choice and savings to the consumer by combining direct and indirect marketing services.

Birmingham-based sales and marketing agency, Privilege Promotions has revealed how they will be implementing a new marketing strategy that will combine forms of both direct and indirect marketing. Direct marketing is selling products or services directly to the public and offers many advantages for the consumer such as two-way conversation, speaking to a real person and getting the latest and most up-to-date offers. Indirect marketing is a way for a business to market their product or service to the masses, resulting in much further market reach and increased brand awareness.

Using both indirect and direct forms of marketing, Privilege Promotions will have a truly unique marketing setup that will appeal to a mass market but also drive long-lasting and genuine business relationships between brand and consumer, leading to the ultimate success of their clients' brands.

This hybrid service will be ideal for consumers as it will provide them with increased choice as well as the knowledge to make a good decision on which product or service would be best for them. By knowing all of the information and being able to talk to a real person consumers will be able to identify with and trust a brand which will lead them to not only invest themselves, but inform others which furthers brand awareness, highlights Privilege Promotions.

Privilege Promotions is proud to state that this hybrid service allows them to focus on what is best for the consumer and helps them to save the consumer money, making it a more ethical and honest service compared to other forms of marketing. Privilege Promotions believes that this is crucial in order to earn the consumer's trust and therefore encourage brand loyalty.

Privilege Promotions is an outsourced sales and marketing firm based in Birmingham. By offering a truly unique marketing service that combines both direct and indirect marketing the firm is able to offer a truly personalised experience to consumers. This means that Privilege Promotions is able to connect with mass consumers on a face-to-face basis. This one-to-one interaction helps to drive long-lasting and personal business relationships between brand and consumer. In turn, this often leads to increased customer acquisition, brand awareness, and brand loyalty, as well as a high return on investment for their clients.
