The company is planning to take three of their best performing individuals to the iconic football ground for an exciting testimonial match between Manchester United and FC Barcelona sporting legends. The 'Legends' game will see a host of football legends compete in a match against giants from FC Barcelona's hall of fame.

Manchester United icons Dwight Yorke, Paul Scholes and Edwin van der Sar will be among the stars playing against the Spaniards in a highly anticipated game taking place later this summer.

Due to the sports-mindedness of the Privilege Promotions' workforce, Managing Director Will Ross has explained how this event is an ideal way of rewarding his hardest working contractors. The day trip will serve as a perfect way to thank his most enthusiastic young talent, who all express a keen interest in sports, and football in particular. It is common for ambitious people to be attracted to the fast-paced sales and marketing industry, with driven, athletic individuals often performing the best when under pressure in the field.

Mr Ross has expressed how keeping his workforce motivated and incentivised is high on his list of priorities, and how he will continue to offer them relevant team trips and benefits so they have fun and exciting goals to work towards.
