Prologic Acquisitions is an outsourced sales and marketing firm that specialises in developing and implementing unique direct marketing campaigns on behalf of their clients' brands. The firm works closely with their clients to conduct valuable market research and determine their target markets and ideal consumer profiles. Once this information has been established, Prologic Acquisitions can develop highly personalised campaigns that reflect the needs of these consumers as well as accurately demonstrates their clients' products or services. These campaigns are then taken directly to consumers via face-to-face marketing techniques which often lead to long-lasting and personal connections between brand and consumer. This often leads to increased customer acquisition, brand awareness and brand loyalty for their clients. Prologic Acquisitions guarantee a high ROI for their clients because they offer a no win-no fee policy which means that their clients only pay them once they have delivered results and generated quality sales. This also means that their clients are never at any financial risk, even in times of economic downturn.

Prologic Acquisitions is extremely excited about their expansion into the Leeds area and there is a strong sense of motivation amongst the crew who are looking up to the success of their Managing Director.
