

QA Earns Ofsted ‘Good’ Rating in All Areas – Recognised For High-Quality Teaching in Apprenticeships and Skills

Thursday 11 September, 2025

QA, one of the UK’s largest providers of skills and apprenticeships, has been rated ‘Good’ in all aspects by Ofsted following an inspection in June 2025.

This rating places QA among the leading training and apprenticeship providers in the sector, reaffirming their position as a strategic partner for a wide range of employers.

Since their last inspection in 2020, QA has continued to evolve in response to the changing needs of learners and employers. Today, QA supports over 6,400 apprentices across 23 standards, with programmes ranging from Level 3 to Level 7, including degree-level apprenticeships. All training is delivered online, enabling flexible access to high-quality learning nationwide.

Praise for apprentice support and teaching standards

Ofsted’s report praised QA’s industry-relevant curriculum, noting that programmes are “designed to meet the needs of businesses for skilled technology professionals,” including specialist pathways in AI and data. Inspectors highlighted QA’s strong leadership and management, describing a “culture of continuous improvement” and “timely adaptations to improve the curriculum.”

The report also commended QA’s high-quality teaching, with tutors described as “experienced technical experts” who use “real-world examples” and interactive methods such as games, quizzes and videos. Learners also benefit from the support of Ela, QA’s AI-powered expert learning assistant, to enhance their learning journey.

QA’s commitment to learner success was also recognised, with Ofsted noting:

- Apprentices benefit from effective support, including mental health resources and regular coaching check-ins.
- Learners with SEND receive tailored support packages, including assistive technologies and flexible pacing.
- Apprentices are offered career development opportunities, including talks from industry experts and access to external networks.
- Coaches provide strong progress monitoring, helping apprentices understand how to achieve merit and distinction grades.

Response from QA’s Chief Learning Officer

Ofsted inspections hold QA to the highest standards and are a crucial quality marker for maintaining the valued trust of learners and customers. QA strives to align with these principles, continually pushing themselves to improve as an organisation and to raise industry standards

Welcoming the result, Jo Bishenden, Chief Learning Officer at QA, commented:

“This Ofsted rating is a powerful endorsement of the standards QA upholds across its apprenticeship provision. It reflects the dedication of their teams, the strength of employer partnerships, and the impact learners make in their organisations. QA is proud to be shaping the future of work through programmes that are built for transformation.”
