Media:

It's great news if you own an overseas holiday home: you can now get a competitive quote and arrange cover online with Quoteline Direct.

At Quoteline Direct we have been carefully listening to our customers for nearly half a century and we are often asked the same question: why is it so difficult to arrange overseas holiday home insurance online without the hassle of endlessly ringing around providers?

"The answer is a simple; it's all about investing in IT" begins Phil Stevens of Quoteline Direct's home insurance team "Building a bespoke online quotation system can be costly and complicated and it's easy to see why some brokers can't be bothered.

"Customers can now get a competitive quote online and arrange instant cover for properties in France, Spain, Italy, Portugal, Greece, Cyprus, Bulgaria and Ireland. Of course we still provide quotes over the phone during office hours, but our new 'quote and buy' system allows homeowners to arrange cover whenever and wherever they want.

"What's more we will try our best to find cover for 'difficult to insure properties' such as those with a history of flooding or subsidence. In fact, we can tailor policies to cover most 'non-standard' needs including high value properties or ones where building work is being undertaken".

Quoteline Direct's overseas holiday home insurance policies are bespoke, which means that benefits of cover vary depending on individual needs, but can include:

- Get competitive online quotes at any time of the day or night
- A dedicated team of experienced consultants waiting to take your call
- Cover for all types of property; from rural retreats to city centre pads
- Choose standalone or combined Buildings and Contents insurance
- Emergency travel cover as standard; including alternative accommodation
- Optional Accidental Damage Insurance, because accidents do happen
- Flexible cover for second homes and let properties abroad
