Record Breaking Performance Put In By Conservatory Outlet Salesman

Wednesday 29 August, 2012

In line with Team GB's heroics at the Olympics, Clearview Home Improvements salesman John Newton has pulled off a Gold Medal performance and recorded an all-time best to secure the monthly title of Conservatory Outlet 'Top Dog' for July.

John, who is based at Clearview's Warrington depot, was the clear winner after he achieved the largest number of combined conservatories, double glazing windows and doors sales in the history of the competition. Clearview colleague, Nick Ransley was runner-up in the competition with a grand total of sales that would normally seal the win.

The impressive performances put in by both John and Nick coincide with a recent sales training course they attended, together with other network members, hosted by esteemed sales professional Paul Clifton, and is testament to the way in which they and others embraced the course and applied the sales techniques learnt.

Clive Brimmell of Housemaster Home Improvements, and Richard Holloway of Premier Windows & Conservatories also deserve honourable mentions after emphatically winning the categories of 'Largest Conservatory Order' and 'Largest Window Order' respectively.

Another Clearview man, Mark Flinn, who works from their Leyland showroom, continues to make Nick Trigg's life hard at the top of the overall Window Sales League Table after triumphing in the monthly category of Top Window Salesman.
As we inch ever closer to the conclusion of the competition, Jim Oliver of James Oliver Conservatories still remains the man to beat, holding a healthy lead over his nearest rival and July's Top Dog, John Newton.

Nick Trigg of Mid Wales Windows also holds all the cards going into the final few months of the annual Window Sales contest.
