On November 28, 2017 Regal Assets officially received the first ever Crypto-commodities license issued by the DMCC and is now able to handle trades in all major cryptos globally.

Demand for cryptos has reached unprecedented levels and finding a reputable and trustworthy company to purchase from is becoming a top priority for new investors. Regal Assets has joined the growing list of companies that are working with government to provide a safe, secure and transparent way to purchase all major cryptos.

The team at Regal Assets has been working with the DMCC in putting together proper security procedures and protocols to put new investors at ease and set a standard for all companies trading in cryptos.

"We are excited to add cryptos to our product offering and look forward to helping current and prospective clients invest in this asset class safely" says Tyler Gallagher, CEO of Regal Assets. "I truly believe that blockchain technology is going to change the world as we know it and I look forward to seeing the application of it evolve in all industries" adds Mr. Gallagher.

Regal Assets was started in 2009 and is known for helping individual investors allocate part of their existing or previous retirement accounts into alternative assets without incurring any taxes or penalties. With the recent addition of cryptos to their product line clients of Regal Assets can now purchase Bitcoin, Ethereum, Litecoin, Bitcoin Cash, Ethereum Classic, Ripple and Dash inside or outside of their existing retirement account. "We want to be competitive and offer multiple ways for clients to purchase cryptos for their investment portfolio, and the demand from IRA and 401k account owners in the US has been huge so far." says Mr. Gallagher.

2017 has been a big year for the cryptos market and has seen gains as high as 1300% for Bitcoin and 5700% for Ethereum.
