Sainsbury's began selling vinyl in March this year for the first time since the 1980s and has been a huge success, selling over 81,000 records to date, with the best performing album Fleetwood Mac 'Rumours', selling 5,500 units year to date.

The new collection includes Pink Floyd Wish You Were Here and David Bowie Blackstar in addition to limited edition coloured vinyl exclusives such as Frankie Goes to Hollywood, Welcome to The Pleasure Dome (£20), Madonna, Like a Prayer (£16) and Jethro Tull, Aqua Lung (£18). From 21 October, Sainsbury's will also be taking an exclusive silver coloured edition of Michael Buble's new album 'Nobody But Me'.

Sean Cowland, Sainsbury's Music Buyer said: 'Following on from the unprecedented success we've seen since adding vinyl to our offer in March, we've extended the range to give our customers even more choice. We've seen incredible sales from timeless classics such as The Beatles, Pink Floyd, and Fleetwood Mac, but also a more leftfield selection, like N.W.A and The Smiths. By increasing the range, we can offer our customer a larger choice to enjoy in our stores.'
