'With today's sudden boost in online activity and interactions, Sanis PR is here to help clients with a budget, become a part of that', explains Operations Director, Rachel Knowles, 'the entertainment industry is fiercely competitive and we recognised a gap in the market'.

Most recently representing English rapper Skremz, the company released a snippet of his Debut Single 'Palm Trees' for free download in October, and will soon be announcing the release date of the full song.

Having Sanis powered by a young and innovative team, you are promised passion and determination behind every campaign. The high-impact marketing strategy that Sanis PR team has thought of is already a success.

'Instead of creating packages with compulsory services, we give our clients flexibility and options of diverse services, the extra benefits are only there if the client wants them'.

To celebrate the launch of Sanis PR, the team have set up a competition with a prize of £100, plus free advertising on the Sanis PR website for two weeks, (worth an additional £150).
