Tuesday 20 October, 2015

Readers of Computing Security Magazine Vote for Sims Recycling Solutions as their Company of the Year

United Kingdom (15th October, 2015) Sims Recycling Solutions, the global leader in Secure IT Asset Disposition and Electronics Recycling Services has been awarded the 'Secure Data Erasure Company of the Year' award at the Annual Computing Security Awards which took place in London on October 8th, 2015. The award follows an impressive year for Sims Recycling Solutions, during which it has undergone significant development including several notable service enhancements, product innovations and market-leading accreditations. The Computing Security Awards recognize the products, services and companies that have been most impressive in protecting organizations from IT security threats, as selected by end users and peers within the security sector. The IT Asset Disposition (ITAD) services offered by Sims Recycling Solutions allow organizations to manage their end of life mobile devices and IT equipment with the reassurance that their data is securely destroyed. Recognized as a Leader by top industry analyst firm Gartner's 2015 ITAD Magic Quadrant, Sims Recycling Solutions offers sustainable global solutions that meet its clients' environmental, data protection and legal compliance needs. Its solutions, which include onsite mobile data destruction, secure data sanitization, value recovery through redeployment and remarketing as well as market leading mechanical recycling and materials recovery are delivered to clients at local, regional and global levels. Sims Recycling Solutions EMEA Director, Anand Narasimhan, said: "This year has been an exciting one for Sims Recycling Solutions with substantial developments in the services we offer our clients. We are delighted that Computing Security Magazine and its readers have recognized our company and thank everyone for taking the time to vote." Additional Resources:
