Singapore: Blockchain Worx, a Singapore-based advisory, and leading global Fintech-Regtech venture, has announced the release of Tokenize Pro, a turnkey white-label securities tokenization platform and digital asset marketplace.

The platform enables institutions to tokenize securities and other real-world assets while managing the whitelisting, sale and distribution of these security tokens in an effective, secure and compliant manner. Tokenize Pro also includes a digital investment marketplace for tokenized securities facilitating virtual ownership and trading of conventional physical assets in a cost-effective, decentralized and instant manner.

The white-label solution allows institutions to set up their own turnkey Securities Tokenization Platform and Digital Asset Marketplaces, allowing security tokens to be traded via a blockchain-based network among registered and verified members in a cryptographically secure and tamper-proof way. Built ground up with security and compliance at the core, the platform includes integrated registration, KYC, approval and reporting functionality allowing institutions to tick all the boxes and comply with relevant regulations.

“Security Tokens will quickly transform the traditional finance world, unlock trillions of dollars’ worth of non-liquid assets and create all-new secondary markets - on the Blockchain,” commented Floyd DCosta, Co-founder, and CEO, of Blockchain Worx. “Tokenize Pro offers institutions a quick and efficient way to get started and lead in this emerging token economy.”

Blockchain Worx is also exploring partnerships with multiple institutions to set up theme-specific Tokenization Platform and Digital Asset Marketplaces in upcoming crypto-friendly jurisdictions. A demo version of Tokenize Pro has also been hosted at Tokenotic.com.
