

SnapJam your day, with the world's most attention-grabbing mobile app

Monday 8 September, 2014

Music for your mugshot, sing with your supper

08 September 2014, London: Ever wondered what your favourite photos sounded like?...yes that's right sounded like. Well now is the time to find out with the world's most attention-grabbing mobile app; and it's FREE.

SnapJam from R&R Music simply takes the photos on your smartphone, analyses all the different colours and textures and comes up with a range of music, tunes and artists to match your picture – allowing you to capture a fun, eye-catching moment by adding the right music to any image.

The technology was developed by very clever people in white coats in a secret mountain lair. But all you need to know is that it is guaranteed to put some ridiculous fun back into any occasion.

Whether it's first dates, favourite foods, lovable pets and classic "jack ass" moments, SnapJam will make your pictures more memorable than ever before.

Simply go to the Apple App Store (Android version coming shortly) and download the App here. No money needed. Not a bean.

Why free? Because at R&R Music we are just really nice guys.

SnapJam your day, every day.
