Available on homes valued up to £250,000, the MI New Home Scheme is aimed at assisting anyone hoping to move into a brand new property with an affordable deposit.

The scheme has been created to assist existing homeowners with small savings who want to move and first time buyers taking their first step on the property ladder. It is estimated that approximately 6,000 people across Scotland will benefit from the government-supported MI New Home scheme.

At the forefront of this innovative new plan is developer Stewart Milne Homes, whose aim is to help get the housing marketing moving again by supporting the re-introduction of 95% mortgages back into the lending mainstream.
