TeamSystem strengthens its portfolio of data management and analytics solutions across Europe with the acquisition of ClicData, a cutting-edge French SaaS platform

Milan/London – TeamSystem, a leading technology and AI company specialising in the development of digital business management solutions for SMEs and professionals, announces it has acquired 100% of ClicData, a French scale-up specialising in SaaS solutions for data management and analytics, with a strong footprint in Canada and the United States.

Founded in 2008 by Telmo Silva and Hélène Clary, ClicData is an end-to-end platform for data management and reporting analytics. Its cloud-native technology enables over 500 customers across Europe and North America to integrate, transform and visualise data from more than 250 different sources through interactive dashboards, predictive analytics and state-of-the-art AI-based features. In 2024, the Company recorded revenue of approximately €3.4 million.

The acquisition represents a strategic milestone for TeamSystem, advancing its open innovation and product development goals. The addition of the ClicData platform to its product offering will enable TeamSystem to further enhance its Business Intelligence (BI) services for its 2.5 million customers, consisting mainly of micro, small and medium-sized businesses. By integrating ClicData's core strength – the ability to manage large data flows from different environments – TeamSystem will expand its technological capabilities in data analytics, further reinforcing its role as a partner of choice for the digital transformation of SMEs and professionals in Italy, Europe and across the wider Mediterranean region.

TeamSystem's customers will benefit from a new generation of AI-powered BI tools designed to support smarter business decisions thanks to integrated data, intelligent dashboards and automated insights, thus enhancing their competitiveness in a challenging business landscape.

"The acquisition of ClicData is key to our international expansion strategy. In 2024 we significantly strengthened our global footprint and enriched our technological expertise, surpassing €1 billion in revenue. With this strategic move we will further enhance our ability to deliver increasingly comprehensive and data-driven AI solutions to our 2.5 million customers," said Federico Leproux, CEO of TeamSystem. "By leveraging ClicData's cutting-edge, accessible and cloud-native platform, we will be able to provide even more powerful data analytics tools that can integrate diverse sources and generate real-time insights. This will enable our customers to transform complex data into tangible value, unlocking fast, informed and strategic decision-making."

"Joining TeamSystem marks the beginning of an exciting new chapter for ClicData. We are confident that, by capitalising on TeamSystem's deep expertise in artificial intelligence and emerging technologies, we will take our offering to the next level," added Telmo Silva, CEO of ClicData. "We believe this operation will drive significant innovation and growth for both companies, to the benefit of our customers and the broader market."

TeamSystem was advised by international law firm Herbert Smith Freehills Kramer on all the legal aspects and by Ernst & Young on the financial, tax and HR aspects. ClicData was advised by Rothschild on the M&A aspects and by KPMG on the financial and tax aspects, with DTMV Avocats acting as a legal advisor.
