The 2022 Fintech Power 50 Cohort Revealed

Tuesday 12 July, 2022

40 trailblazing fintechs and 10 outstanding fintech influencers announced live at Fintech Week London

The Fintech Power 50, a list of the 40 most innovative companies and 10 visionary personalities shaping the financial services industry, has been revealed for 2022.

The exclusive annual program acts as a hub for driving change and creativity in the financial services industry, helping the sector innovate and grow.

After more than 1,200 companies were nominated and over 18,000 votes cast, this year's chosen 50 were revealed live on stage at Fintech Week London – the city's biggest tech and finance event – on Monday 11 July 2022.

Announcing the final list, Mark Walker, co-founder and chief operating officer of The Fintech Power 50, said: "The Fintech Power 50 annual list acts as a much-needed reminder of all the great things we are achieving in the world of financial technology, and shines a spotlight on those who are transforming financial services for the better.

"It's fantastic to be here at Fintech Week London to announce this year's fabulous 50. Our prestigious guide continues to go from strength to strength with a record number of nominations and votes for fintechs based across the globe."
