THE BODY SHOP IN NATIONWIDE SEARCH TO FIND 'HEARTMAKERS'

Wednesday 2 October, 2013

The Body Shop UK launches a nationwide campaign today (2nd October 2013) to find five inspiring ambassadors called 'Heartmakers' to represent the ethical retailer's core values and bring its brand mantra 'Beauty With Heart' to life.

The social media driven campaign asks customers and fans to choose one of the five core values of the brand (Against Animal Testing, Support Community Fair Trade, Activate Self Esteem, Defend Human Rights and Protect the Planet) and submit their application via a personalised postcard through a Facebook app, explaining why they are passionate about that particular value.*

The Body Shop Social Media Manager, Rowan Stanfield says: "We're looking for five unique individuals who embody (our brand mantra) 'Beauty with Heart' and can demonstrate their commitment to one of The Body Shop core values. We hope that these 'Heartmakers' will be able to get under the skin of the brand and inspire others to be activists in the areas that we care about the most. They'll also get to have some fun with us, trying new products and coming to our launches and events."

The Heartmakers judging panel includes Jo Holley from Glamour Magazine and Michelle Thew from Cruelty Free International, as well as representatives from The Body Shop Values and Community Fair Trade teams and The Body Shop Foundation. The five successful 'Heartmakers' will each receive a hamper of The Body Shop cruelty-free products, as well as have the chance to review and trial new products, attend launches and other VIP events, write guest blog posts for The Body Shop blog and newsletter and receive a one-year subscription to Glamour magazine.

The Heartmakers campaign will run for six weeks, launching on 2nd October and with applications open until 16th October. Visit http://www.facebook.com/TheBodyShopUK for more information.
