

The Drinks Trust & The Burnt Chef Project partner to provide even more mental health support to the drinks and hospitality industry

Friday 13 August, 2021

The Drinks Trust, the drinks industry charity, has partnered with The Burnt Chef Project, a registered non-profit within the UK which challenges mental health stigma within the hospitality industry, to provide enhanced mental health support services to the drinks and hospitality sector by accessing The Drinks Trust's 24/7 helpline.

According to the latest survey launched by The Burnt Chef Project, 40% of respondents have struggled with their mental health over the past 12 months, with around 1 in 6 reporting it has been 'not good'. General Managers are seemingly those finding the pressures impacting their mental health the most, with 42% reporting a decline in the overall level of mental wellbeing since reopening. However, 60% of individuals report feeling 'okay' or 'better' about working in the industry, showing that a large proportion of the workforce is keen to stay, highlighted by 33% of those not currently working within hospitality looking to return within the next 12 months.

The Burnt Chef Project launched their existing text support service in February 2021, which seeks to bring users to a place of calm when in need of immediate support. Through this partnership, the charities aim to reach and provide support to even more colleagues facing mental health difficulties by adding The Drinks Trust helpline's services to their support offerings.

The Drinks Trust's confidential helpline was extended last year to a 24/7 support line, with all calls answered by counsellors and clinically trained psychotherapists to help callers receive in the moment support to help them cope more effectively with any personal or work-related problems they may be experiencing.

The free 24/7 helpline is available on 0800 9154610, by contacting helpline@drinkstrust.org.uk or by sending "Hi" on Whatsapp to 00 353 87 369 0010.

The helpline also offers an internal referral to over 30 various online Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) courses, each with different themes. It also includes the option to have up to six specialist 1:1 telephone sessions according to assessed need and covering: legal advice, mediation support, life and career coaching, financial advice, consumer advice and parenting coaching.

Nicola Burston, Operations Manager at The Drinks Trust said: "We are extremely pleased to have partnered with The Burnt Chef Project and to extend our helpline services to their stakeholders. Through this association, we aim to extend the message of our services to even more people who are suffering from any form of mental health difficulty and don't know where to turn to. The Drinks Trust, as The Burnt Chef Project, is fully committed in removing the stigma surrounding mental health, so please, if you are not feeling okay get in contact with our helpline. You are really not alone in this."

Kris Hall, Founder of The Burnt Chef Project said: "We are thrilled to be able to extend our existing text support service which aims to provide immediate relief to those who need it. Through our partnership with The Drinks Trust, we can now do even more to support the hospitality community through its toughest period to-date. By providing complimentary access to The Drinks Trust to the growing Burnt Chef community we are now able to provide mid-term assistance around a wealth of concerns as well as immediate help when it's needed."

/Ends

Note to the Editor:

The Drinks Trust

Media:

Related Sectors:

Business & Finance :: Charities & non-profits :: Coronavirus (COVID-19) :: Education & Human Resources :: Food & Drink :: Health :: Leisure & Hobbies :: Lifestyle & Relationships ::

Related Keywords:

Hospitality :: Pubs :: Bar :: Chef :: Staff :: Staff Retention :: Hospitality Employment :: Pandemic :: Mental Health :: Recruitment :: Data :: Insight :: Survey :: COVID-19 ::

Scan Me:

The Drinks Trust is the community organisation for the drinks industry, offering support and services to help its community thrive, to upskill, to broaden their knowledge, to network, and learn from one another. It will also be there to support them in challenging times, with wellbeing and financial assistance. For all media enquiries please contact Alessandra Brugola on 0777 1436833 or email alessandra@drinkstrust.org.uk

The Burnt Chef Project

The Burnt Chef Project a non-profit organisation for the hospitality industry. It builds the capability of owners, line managers and employees by providing training to enhance the awareness of mental health and provide supportive skills to management teams to open conversation and support to those who are experiencing ill mental health. Their powerful suite of tools and services include:

The Burnt Chef Journal Podcast

The Burnt Chef Support Service

The Burnt Chef Academy

The Burnt Chef Training Courses

The Burnt Chef Merchandise

The Burnt Chef Diagnostic Tool

By providing these services The Burnt Chef Project challenges the stigma of mental health whilst beginning to create a culture of care and compassion which will improve recruitment opportunities whilst also reducing the turnover rates and paving the way to a healthier and sustainable industry.

Company Contact:

—

The Burnt Chef Project

T. 07983622577

E. marketing@theburntchefproject.co.uk

W. <https://www.theburntchefproject.com>

Additional Contact(s):

Emmy Webster. Media Enquiries. 07983 622577

View Online

Additional Assets:

Newsroom: Visit our Newsroom for all the latest stories:

<https://www.theburntchefproject.pressat.co.uk>