Bristol based outsourced sales and direct marketing promotions firm, Streamline Promotions, believe that there is a strong connection between business and sport because of the competitiveness in both industries. The firm believes that competitiveness is key in order to achieve great success.

Streamline Promotions believe that competition is vital in every walk of life. It brings out the best in people; it is what drives individuals to be the best they can be and to reach their full potential. A competitive spirit and winning mentality are two of the key things Streamline Promotions look for in associates as they believe it is something that can't be taught and that as long as someone possesses these characteristics, then they can provide them with all the necessary tools for success.

"I am an extremely competitive person and that is something that transfers into my business. Competition is something that we promote at Streamline Promotions and we regularly run competitions for our associates as we often see the best results while a competition is running. It forces people to up their game and to give it their all," said Managing Director at Streamline Promotions, Benjamin Streames.

Streamline Promotions believe that a competitive spirit is vital for company success. Although still a relatively young firm, they have achieved great success in their first year of business, comfortably meeting all targets set out. The firm is constantly seeking to improve and their competitive spirit is what drives them to be the best. "We have a winning mentality which means that we aren't happy to settle for the position we are in and we are always striving to improve and be number one," said Managing Director at Streamline Promotions, Benjamin Streames.

At Streamline Promotions they are excited for what the New Year will bring after ending 2015 on a tremendous high. The firm is confident that they will achieve great results in 2016 and they are looking forward to getting started.

Streamline Promotions is a very goal-driven pr, promotions and sales company based in Bristol. At Streamline Promotions they identified a gap in the market for more personalised and interactive marketing solutions. One of things the firm prides themselves on is having personal development plans in place for everyone in the business, as they believe that when people have the opportunity to learn and develop that productivity reaches its peak. Streamline Promotions have become one of the market leaders in the industry. The firm supports its clients to achieve their objectives through strategic direct sales, marketing and promotional PR campaigns.
