Edinburgh, UK – June 2025 – The Sporting Club, the business network for sports lovers, is set to expand its presence with the opening of its first Scottish branch in Edinburgh this July.

Founded by award-winning sports journalist, author and broadcaster Ian Stafford, The Sporting Club is renowned for connecting members through curated events, exclusive venues and personal introductions that lead to real-world results. Over the years, it has hosted renowned figures including Gary Player, Sugar Ray Leonard, Usain Bolt, Gareth Southgate, Dan Carter, Lord Sebastian Coe, Sir Jackie Stewart, Dame Kelly Holmes, Zara Tindall and many more, offering members first-hand insights and stories from some of the most respected names in sport.

During the pre-launch events, guests will hear directly from Ian Stafford about the club's vision and membership benefits. Attendees will also have the chance to connect with senior professionals and decision-makers across sport, business and beyond.

"This may well be the most profitable two hours you spend this year. It will certainly be one of the most entertaining," said a spokesperson for The Sporting Club Scotland.
