The UK turns to WeBuyMotors.com to sell used cars

Wednesday 8 March, 2017

Since launching in 2013, We Buy Motors has quickly gained momentum as a leading online car dealership in the United Kingdom. The budding company recognised the potential of the platform after noticing an increasing trend to buy and sell used cars online. A lack of reliable and trustworthy dealers created an opportunity for We Buy Motors to enter the marketplace. Today, the company is gaining a reputation as the easiest and most profitable way to sell used cars for cash.

We Buy Motors attributes its substantial growth to a simplified process, which introduced a hassle-free way to sell used cars for cash. The process takes just 48 hours and involves three simple steps including car valuation, car collection, and payment. To begin the free valuation process, sellers need only log on to the website and enter their car registration and odometer reading. We Buy Motors immediately commence a detailed search using their large database to identify the best possible price, and within just 60 seconds the seller is notified of their valuation via email.

Car collection comes at no additional cost to the seller, and payment is transferred directly into the client's account before the car is collected. The whole process is seamless requiring little effort on behalf of the seller.

'No messing about, you get a quote, you make a call, then they come out (and) have a quick inspection' said David Adamson, a recent customer who successfully sold his Volkswagen Scirocco. 'And you get your money straight to your bank (with) no hidden fees or costs!'

This is a completely different experience compared to other online platforms, which require costly and lengthy advertisements as well as back and forth communication with disappointment for potential buyers when a sale falls through. We Buy Motors not only guarantee a sale but also at the best possible market price. The company is so confident in their best price guarantee they encourage customers to search for a better price. The valuation is valid for five days providing sellers with ample time to seek others offers.
