

The Ulysses Trust Receives £10,000 Donation from Cambridge Management Consulting to Support Cadets

Thursday 10 July, 2025

The Ulysses Trust is delighted to announce the generous donation of £10,000 from Cambridge Management Consulting, an international consulting firm. This contribution will directly support cadet units across the UK to deliver adventurous and challenging expeditions to army, air and sea cadets.

The donation was marked by a formal cheque presentation at Cambridge MC's London office, where representatives from Cambridge Management Consulting met with Polly Marsh, CEO of The Ulysses Trust, to celebrate the shared values of leadership, resilience, and public service that unite the two organisations.

The Ulysses Trust's CEO, Polly Marsh, said "The Ulysses Trust is thrilled to be working with Cambridge Management Consulting, who believe in our shared goal to develop confident and resilient young people through challenge and adventure — this generous donation will go to support as many cadets as possible to benefit from life changing expeditions in the UK and abroad".

The Ulysses Trust provides financial assistance to help cadets and reservists to undertake expeditions that develop essential life skills, including teamwork, perseverance, and self-confidence. These experiences often have a lasting impact, inspiring participants to reach their full potential both personally and professionally.

"It's an enormous pleasure for Cambridge Management Consulting to support The Ulysses Trust," said Tim Passingham, Cambridge MC Founder and Chairman. "This donation comes from proceeds generated by our work in the Falkland Islands. Given our passion for supporting children and young people, we wanted to contribute to a youth charity with connections to the Falklands. With The Ulysses Trust having been founded by Philip Neame MBE — who led D Company, 2 Para, in the Falklands War— it felt like the perfect charity for us to support and to begin building a deeper relationship with in the future."

This generous support from Cambridge Management Consulting will help unlock even more opportunities for young people across the UK, enabling them to benefit from the transformational power of outdoor adventure and challenge. Without this financial support many of the participants would simply not be able to afford to take part.
