THE VULCAN F701 THUNDEROBOT TOWER COMES TO EUROPE

Friday 2 June, 2017

The Asian PC and gaming accessories brand, Thunderobot, has extended its catalog of products available in Europe with one of its most powerful towers, the VULCAN F701, which is now available on the European Thunderobot website: www.thunderobot.eu.

This is a powerful desktop computer equipped with the new Gygabyte GA-X99-Phoenix SLI motherboard, Intel Core i7-6800K processor, ZOTAC GTX 1080 graphics card, 16GB of preinstalled RAM and expandable up to 128GB. It has a Windows 10 Pro operating system and a 15MB cache, not to mention 256GB of pre-installed SSD and HDD expandable up to 2TB.

The Vulcan F701 boasts a futuristic and dynamic design in a polished black shade and features a box lit up in red, which transmits the brand's DNA: "Born for gamers, born for gaming". The chassis is an exclusive edition of the Cooler Master Case Pro 5 by Thunderobot, which maintains optimal ventilation and temperature during the game.

According to the Product Manager in Europe, Carlos Patón, "with this tower we're targeting players who know all about the features their equipment needs. We're staying loyal to the spirit of the brand and meeting our customers' expectations regarding quality and performance".

In fact, the players at Valencia CF eSports train with VULCAN F701 towers at their technical center sponsored by Thunderobot.

Like all products from the brand, the VULCAN F701 has a two-year guarantee and its buyers can rely on the experience of professionals at the Thunderobot European Service Center, based in Barcelona, for remote technical assistance. This center operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. It is endowed with staff who have extensive technological training and the center even has a local stock of spare parts.

The Vulcan F701 comes onto the market with a retail price of 2,399 euros.

Thunderobot, the Asian brand that landed in Europe in the spring of 2017, is a leader in the sale of gaming computers and accessories. It offers a wide range of products that are carefully designed down to the last detail to satisfy the needs of its users: demanding players, including both professionals and amateurs. It offers them personalized attention 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, as well as a premium technical service thanks to its Thunderobot Service Center. "Born for gaming. Born for gamers" is the brand's motto.

With its European headquarters in Barcelona, Thunderobot designs, produces and markets desktop PCs, laptops, keyboards and numerous game peripherals such as mice, virtual reality goggles and headphones. Its laptops stand out for their power and game speed, thanks to a combination of the latest Intel processors and the new Nvidia GTX10 graphics cards (both official partners of the brand). The brand's products also offer an attractive design that combines a futuristic look, color and elegance.
