“This Game Is Impossible, but I Can't Stop Playing it...”

Thursday 16 October, 2014

The one-man, British game studio, Natty Bits, is proud to announce its latest game: ParrotChute.

ParrotChute is a unique and highly entertaining endless runner game. Help guide Percy – a sky diving parrot – to safety. Simple in concept, difficult in execution and totally addictive!

The controls are very simple and require no tapping or pressing of the screen - you have to tilt your device left and right to steer the parrot through the gaps in the clouds. It's not as easy as it sounds though – Percy is free falling at quite a speed and the gaps in the clouds are narrow! Hit a cloud though and poor Percy dies and you start again.

Every time Percy The Parrot successfully navigates through a gap you score a point!

Features:
- Endless runner game
- Tilt your device left and right to steer bird through gaps
- Upload the high score to Game Center to challenge your friends
- Upload your high score to Twitter for everyone to see
- Beautiful retina graphics and sound effects

"Everyone that's played it so far has had a real love/hate relationship with it, but in a good way. I think this is down to the sheer simplicity of the concept but the difficulty of game play", says Nino Rosella, its creator.

One Facebook user had this to say: "This game is impossible, but I can't stop playing it. Bravo..." (Screenshot in gallery).

ParrotChute is free to play and can be downloaded for iOS, Android and Amazon Kindle devices using the following links:
