

To compare, select and book online a private jet, only one address : Lynjet!

Wednesday 5 April, 2017

Face with the opacity of prices of the business aviation market, often pointed out by users, Linda Sellidj, President of Global Jet Partner, innovates and creates the first French private jet platform online:

Lynjet.com

With a new version of its website, launched since December 1st 2016, Global Jet Partner innovates with a new brand and launches today its mobile version, accessible from a smartphone or a tablet, for even more flexibility.

During all the month of April, 7 days trial are offered on the « Basic option ». The occasion for everyone to experience hiring a private jet and realize that the dream is at the doorstep of a greater audience than the one the private jet industry tends to make it believe.

Lynjet.com: The 1st online private jet rental platform takes off with a new mobile version.

For business or pleasure, chartering a private jet to travel allows you to avoid the stress and hassle of regular airliners and to benefit from a flight on demand at schedules of choice with specially trained personnel, guaranteeing the utmost discretion.

Nowadays, many travelers; businessmen, statesmen, personalities and also anonymous pressed and demanding clients, elect to travel in private jet. For all that, If hiring a private jet allows you to travel with such freedom and flexibility to compare, choose and book on line a private jet, then, it offers peace of mind, time saving.....and money!

Linda Sellidj, President of Global Jet Partner and founder of Lynjet, points out, « Lynjet.com offers for the first time in France, a solution for both, the opacity of the rates on the business jet market and to the reality of the market itself. Consumer habits are indeed profoundly upset, and digital is increasingly investing in the luxury sectors. In fact, our customers are accustomed to making purchases online, directly, without waiting for quotations made by intermediaries. So why not book a private plane? ».

« This website has required more than a year of development because of the numerous information to integrate. We will ask our clients for a come back concerning their digital experience with lynjet.com and will take the opportunity to progressively enrich the website. Ideas are not missing and we are already working on the future ».

Until then, some companies allowed their travelers to book one of their airplanes online, but the choice was limited to a handful of aircrafts. With Lynjet.com, is almost all of the market that is offered to users. Thus, platform users can seamlessly access to real-time pricing, select and compare planes according to their own criteria and book online the chosen private jet rental.

lynjet.com's data base will develop itself with thousands of international airports added in time, the launch is concentrated on European flights.

Reserve your private jet online, in just a few clicks, from your smartphone!
