

Top 5 Places to escape Brexit this March

Wednesday 20 February, 2019

If all the current Brexit commotion is getting the best of you and you feel like you should just back away and escape the current economic climate, Ana O'Reilly, the luxury blogger behind Mrs. O Around the World shares her top 5 picks for a March Brexit escape.

Surfside, Florida

You will want to escape the UK and trade it off for some guaranteed sunshine and a very sexy luxury hotel. Ana recommends The Four Seasons Hotel at The Surf Club in Surfside, Florida, about 15 minutes from the hustle and bustle of Miami Beach, but close enough if you just want to pop round for dinner one night.

Get there with British Airways in business class by flying to Miami from Heathrow from £1676 or Fort Lauderdale from Gatwick from £1508.

North Lake Tahoe, California

Sometimes one just needs to put on ones skis and slide away. In North Lake Tahoe, you can base yourself in one place (Mrs. O suggests Squaw Valley and the Plumpjack Squaw Valley Inn) and ski a different mountain every day, just like you could pop round for lunch to a different Euro capital before. Yes, it was decadent - and so are the views when you ski Homewood Mountain and enjoy Lake Tahoe.

Get there with British Airways in business class by flying from Heathrow to San Francisco or San Jose from £1582.

Saadiyat Island, Abu Dhabi

One of the most beautiful stretches of beach in the UAE, Saadiyat is not as well known as Dubai, and that is absolutely fine by those who choose to return year after year like Ana O'Reilly. Low construction, truly fabulous hotels - Mrs. O always stays at the St. Regis Resort at Saadiyat and the food might just surprise you. And of course you can just get on a little boat and go to Zaya Nurai private island for the day.

Get there with British Airways in business class by flying from Heathrow to Abu Dhabi from £2170 or Dubai, which is only 90 minutes drive away from £1886.

Igls, Austria

The uncertainty caused by Brexit could really be stressing you out - so the best place to get away from it all could be actually in Europe. Park Igls is the world renowned Mayr spa, and offer a 7-night or multiple week detox and destress programme. You will lose more than just a few pounds, enjoy medical-class treatments including daily massages and you will literally come back as a new person. New Brexit, new You.

Get there with British Airways in business class by flying to Innsbruck from Heathrow from £243 or from Gatwick from £279.

Great Milton, Oxford

Maybe you don't want to even think about leaving the country as no one really knows what will happen. Mrs. O suggests you let Raymond Blanc's team look after you - check into one of their cozy suits at Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons just outside Oxford. They will feed you rather nicely too.

Notes to Editors

Ana Silva O'Reilly is a 30-something globetrotter who finds her peace and quiet on a long-haul business class flight to somewhere warm. An avid traveller, Ana is also a good daughter, religiously following her mother's motto: 'If you leave home, it has to be better', or 'I love camping, in 5 star hotels'. A city girl at heart, she moved to the quiet English countryside for love, and lives her travel dreams through her award-winning alter-ego and travel blog Mrs. O Around the World.
