Thursday 12 October, 2017

Twitter, powered by Niche's powerful global content creator network, and Cybersmile are partnering up to kick-off #TweetForACause, Twitter's first-ever pro bono creator initiative. The inaugural campaign will drive awareness around Cybersmile's mission to combat cyberbullying and online abuse.

Twitter is launching its first #TweetForACause campaign tapping into the powerful voices of Niche's global creator network, which the company acquired in 2015. The #TweetForACause initiative will be the first in an ongoing semi-annual series. Future NGO partners will be selected based on their alignment to Twitter for Good's philanthropic mission, and each activation will be powered by Niche's global creator network. As part of its inaugural campaign, Niche creators will be driving awareness for Cybersmile's efforts in preventing cyberbullying and online abuse.

"We couldn't think of a better partner than Cybersmile to kick off Niche's #TweetForACause pro bono initiative, particularly as we continue to honor Bullying Prevention Month in October. We are humbled to be a part of their mission to combat cyberbullying through the voices of our most influential and trusted content creators," Leah Feygin, Sr. Brand Strategist, Twitter.

As a creator-first network, Niche has seen firsthand how creators have had to deal with issues relating to cyberbullying and aims to have a positive impact by sparking conversation around Cybersmile's mission, particularly during Bullying Prevention Month.

"We are honored and excited to be included as the launch partner for Twitter's new bi-annual #TweetForACause initiative. With the inclusion in Twitter's new #TweetForACause initiative, awareness of Cybersmile and our work will be raised to millions of new people around the world - potentially changing and even saving huge numbers of lives in the short and long term," Scott Freeman, CEO, The Cybersmile Foundation.

Starting on October 12th, content creators from the U.S. and U.K. will utilize the collective power of the Twitter platform to create and share original content that encourages internet users to support and promote Cybersmile's work around the world. Creators include:
