UK Software Company Powered Now Wins Two Prestigious Awards in the Electrical Market

Newport, Isle of Wight, UK – December 9th, 2024 – Powered Now, the leading provider of job management software for tradespeople, is pleased to announce that it has won two prestigious awards in the electrical market.

The company's job management software was named a "Top Product" by Professional Electrician & Installer magazine. The awards recognize manufacturers and suppliers that have made a real difference to electrical contractors' ability to work efficiently, safely, and professionally.

Powered Now was also awarded the prestigious "Software/App of the Year" award by Electrical Contract News (ECN). This award was presented at the annual ECN dinner and prize-giving on Thursday, December 5th. Powered Now was up against stiff competition but won on the night.

"We are thrilled to have won these two prestigious awards," said Benjamin Dyer, CEO of Powered Now.

"These awards are a testament to the hard work and dedication of our team, who are committed to providing electricians and other trades with the best possible job management software. We are also grateful to our customers for their continued support."

Powered Now's job management software helps electricians to:

- Create quotes and invoices
- Schedule appointments
- Track jobs
- Manage customers
- Improve efficiency and profitability

The software's new Zs charts and calculators feature has been a major hit with electricians. This feature allows electricians to access the Max Zs calculator independently or use it while completing a certificate.

"Our annual awards are a great way to reward those companies that have come up with excellent ideas to help electrical installers and businesses overcome common problems in their everyday work," said Richard Bowler, Editor of Professional Electrician & Installer.

"Powered Now's Job Management Software, now featuring Zs charts and calculators, is a very worthy winner of one of our 2024 Top Product awards."

Kelly Byne, Sales Director at ECN, commented:

"The judges commended the winning product for its range of features that tradespeople need to run their business, all within one app."

Powered Now is committed to providing electricians, plumbers, heating engineers, pest controllers and other trades with the best possible job management software. The company is constantly innovating and adding new features to its software. Powered Now is the perfect solution for trades companies who want to improve their efficiency and profitability.
