UNIQUE VALENTINES GIFT FOR ENGAGED COUPLES: GIVE THE GIFT OF A WEDDING PLANNER

Friday 4 February, 2022

Valentine's Day is often a time of new wedding proposals and a special time for newly engaged couples dreaming of their big day plans. This year top UK wedding planner and designer Jessie Westwood at Studio Sorores is offering £20 off her bespoke consultations in a special Valentines promotion until the end of the month using the code SORORESVALENTINES when booking online here.

The team at Studio Sorores are offering a highly valuable yet simple consultation service booked in one hour time slots, online or in person, which is an affordable alternative to their full planning and design service.

“Planning a wedding can often be stressful and overwhelming for couples, so I launched a consultation service that offers them a chance to get expert advice to kick start the process or help get things back on track along the way - we can discuss anything from budgeting to styling recommendations, whatever will help most” says Jessie.

Wedding consultations work for a variety of people at completely different stages in the planning and design process, and can be completely transformative. If you feel your partner would benefitting from talking through their ideas and concepts with a planner and designer, if they seem overwhelmed with ideas and can't make up their mind, or are finding it hard to find a common thread to ensure your design ideas are cohesive then this service would be perfect as a special Valentines gift to help you develop a definite sense of design direction or work through finer details with logistics.

Regardless of where any couple is in the planning & design process, Studio Sorores can provide styling suggestions, create mood boards, suggest ideas for colour palettes, or even help source vendors or products. ?

Each session normally costs £200 + VAT and must be booked online in advance.
