Unlimited HubSpot tasks done for a fixed monthly fee with HubSnacks

Wednesday 28 June, 2017

HubSpot Certified Agency Partner Juice Tactics announces the launch of HubSnacks, a productized service that helps any HubSpot user accelerate the benefits of the whole platform by offloading any task to a team of experienced professionals for an cost-effective pay-as-you-go subscription.

Anybody investing in a software product wants to know when they'll start to see returned value. HubSnacks enables Marketing and Sales teams to start receiving the benefits they expected immediately.

When your team has built the necessary skills, or has freed up enough time to use HubSpot's tools to their full potential, you can cancel the subscription, leaving you with a perfectly set up installation and with all the templates you need to keep growing.

When the CEO of SourceConnect.net needed immediate results from HubSpot, he went straight to HubSnacks -

> "HubSnacks enables my team to offload all those small repetitive tasks to a fully trained team, and it feels great knowing that I'm getting the most from my HubSpot installation, and all our energy is focused 100% on growing our company." Rob Bush. CEO of SourceConnect.net

HubSnacks is not an agency. HubSnacks is a productized service for the company that knows what it wants to do and just wants someone with a proven record in HubSpot to deliver the work fast and accurately every time.

Why was HubSnacks created?

Ian Horley, CEO of Juice Tactics commented "As an Inbound Consultancy, we've been building HubSpot based Lead Generation & Sales Automation funnels for Service Providers for over 4 years. In that time, countless clients have asked if we'd lend a helping hand with all sorts of other tasks. In response we created a highly automated and streamlined package that our clients could subscribe to for long after we finished with the initial consulting project. It has scaled so well, we have now launched it to all HubSpot users, no matter where they are and what their business is."
